Provenance

The Peter Dineen Papers were donated to the Medical Archives of the NYH-CMC by his wife, Anne Dineen and the Department of Surgery. Dr. Dineen had previously visited the Archives and had agreed that it would be the appropriate repository for his papers. These papers cover the years 1968-1989. The papers include his office files, studies, manuscripts, numerous files regarding the professional and Medical Center committees he served on, consultations, and personal and biographical material. Dr. Dineen's strong interest in the Surgeon's Assistant program and in operating room environment is reflected in these papers.

Biographical Note

Paul Albinus Peter Dineen was born January 13, 1925. His affiliation with New York Hospital is familial as his father was on the surgical staff at the hospital and was director of the animal lab. Dineen's mother was a surgical nurse. As a young man, Peter Dineen lived on the Upper-East Side and belonged to the Knickerbocker Greys. This was a boy's club for the sons of high society and Dr. Dineen continued to be interested in the club and to attend functions until his death. He attended Taft School in Connecticut with Lowell Thomas, Jr. Dr. Dineen attended Yale from 1944-1947 and then, without a degree, entered Cornell University Medical College. Except for the two years (1950-1952) that he served in the Navy, he never left the NYH-CM Center.

Dr. Dineen joined the faculty of CUMC in 1954 and became a professor in 1972. He served that hospital and the medical school as a practitioner, teacher and administrator. He was chairman of the Operating Room Committee, the hospital's Infection Committee (transferred to the Archives during his lifetime), and the General Faculty Council. He was chairman of ambulatory surgery, director of affiliations, vice-chairman of the Department of Surgery, chief of one of the four surgical services, and developer and director of the first Surgeon's Assistant Program in the United States.

He was the author or co-author of 233 research papers and journal articles dealing primarily with surgical infection and infection control. Dr. Dineen was a founding member of the Surgical Infection Society and editor-in-chief of their journal, Infections in Surgery.

He served on many professional association committees including the Joint (AMA-ACS) Review Committee on Educational Programs for Physician Assistants. This was in keeping with his strong interest in developing a program that would educate a group of men and women to be Surgeon's Assistants. Dr. Dineen felt that the reduction in the number of surgical residents accepted by hospitals each year required replacement with trained individuals who could perform the tasks that the numerous Junior residents had previously performed.

Dr. Dineen was also very active in the American College of Surgeons and the American Surgical Society.

On a personal level, Dr. Dineen was married to Anne and was the father of one son, Michael. He lived in Bridgewater, Connecticut. Correspondence files reveal his strong interest in Dalmatians and the Boondocks Medical Society. He had a sense of humor, and a personality that was warm, friendly, and quite approachable. Many letters were from young people seeking advice or letters of recommendation. This correspondence would continue long after the initial request and Dr. Dineen answered with notes of encouragement and praise. He wrote numerous letters of recommendation and congratulations to his colleagues.

It is not surprising that Dr. Dineen worked eighty hours per week. He was an administrator, surgeon, teacher and mentor and he gave full time to each. Although he traveled extensively with his wife Anne, it was usually work related. He was highly respected throughout the world as an expert in operating room environment, surgical infections, and allied health personnel. He was often asked to consult or testify as an expert witness in lawsuits.

Dr. Dineen died of cancer on October 17, 1989. He was 64 years old, and he had served the NYH-CMC community for over 35 years.

Scope and Content

The Dineen Papers contain 11 distinct series. A list of these series can be found on page 4. It should be noted that the papers begin in 1968, 25 years after Dr. Dineen arrived at Cornell Medical School, and they end with his death in 1989. There are great gaps in the papers, especially after 1980.

Dr. Dineen's interest in surgical wound infection and operating room environment is reflected throughout the collection. The office files contain letters requesting his opinion and expertise, and he often served as a consultant or expert witness in lawsuits. In this regard, Dr. Dineen worked extensively with pharmaceutical and medical equipment companies. He tested their products, and they supported his research into operating room environment and surgical wound infections. Most of the manuscripts, publications and symposiums that Dr. Dineen authored or organized were related to his interest in the above mentioned fields. There are several articles on antibiotic utilization and sterilization equipment or techniques.

Many of the files pertain to the numerous committees and associations - internal, national and international- that Dr. Dineen served. These committee memberships attest to the respect his colleagues had for his opinion and expertise. He participated actively in the American College of Surgeons and The American Surgical Society. These committees related to his interests in surgical infection and surgeon's assistants. They included being a founding member of the Surgical Infection Society and the editor-in-chief of their journal, Infections in Surgery. Another committee that Dr. Dineen served on, as a representative of the ACS, was the Joint (AMA and ACS) Review Committee on Education Programs for Physician's Assistants.

The Surgeon's Assistant program began at NYH-CMC in 1974. It was the first program in the United States aimed specifically at training physician's assistants in the field of surgery. Dr. Dineen claimed it was in response to the reduction in the number of junior residents. He authored articles such as, "Surgeon's Assistants Can Ease the Manpower Crunch in Teaching Hospitals," The Hospital Medical Staff, November 1975. (BOX 11, FILE 10) In correspondence with other directors or with people seeking advice, he stated that the 2 year program has been most successful with applicants that had at least two years of college and had experience in the health related fields. He said, "It is interesting that these individuals are not frustrated medical students but are indeed interested in this as a separate patient care career. They have different career goals and different motivation." (BOX 26, FILE 5)

The papers include agendas and minutes of the numerous committees. Dr. Dineen served on (many as chairman) at the Medical Center. These include the Operating Room Committee, the Committee on Infections (transferred to the Archives during his lifetime), the General Faculty Council and the Quality Assurance Committee. He served on numerous other committees including the Formulary and Therapeutics Committee, the Appointment and Promotions Committee, the Antibiotic Utilization Committee, renovation and space utilization committees and various search committees, including those for affiliate hospitals. He was director of Affiliations, director of the Surgeon's Assistant Program, and vice-chairman of the Department of Surgery.

The papers have few personal annotations and there appear to be great gaps. An example would be the accreditation site visits for the SA program. There are files for 1974, 1978, and 1988, but virtually nothing for 1983. Unfortunately, records regarding the establishment of the Surgeon's Assistant program are not found in these files. On the other hand, the papers reflect Peter Dineen's character as a devoted practitioner, administrator, researcher, mentor, teacher, and friend.
