RESEARCH ACCESS TO PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

Medical Center Archives is the repository for certain records (e.g., patient records) that contain individually identifiable health information. This information is recognized as protected health information (PHI) under the U.S. Federal Government's Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA). The Privacy Rule [45 Code of Federal Regulations Parts 160 & 164, effective 4/14/2003] establishes the conditions under which PHI may be used or disclosed for research purposes [45 CFR §164.512(i)].

I. Permission to access the PHI of living individuals for research purposes must be separately applied for and be approved by the joint Institutional Review Board of NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital and Weill Medical College of Cornell University in accordance with the provisions of the Privacy Rule.

II. The Head of Archives or Assistant Archivist will permit access to the PHI of deceased individuals if the researcher makes written representations that the use or disclosure being sought is solely for research on the PHI of decedents and that the PHI being sought is necessary for research. Individuals will be presumed to be deceased 100 years after date of birth or date of record creation, whichever occurs first. In all other instances, the researcher must provide written proof of death.
