PROVENANCE:

Dr. George Reader donated two boxes of material on aging in 1982. In 1991-1992, the Department of Public Health donated the rest of his papers.

ADMINISTRATIVE/BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE:

George Reader was born in Brooklyn, NY on February 8, 1919. He married Helen Brown in 1942; and they had four sons: Jonathan, David, Mark, and Peter. He received a BA from Cornell University in 1940 and a MD from Cornell University Medical College in 1943. He was an resident at New York Hospital, when he was called to serve two years in the U.S. Navy.

After the war, Dr. Reader returned to the medical center, where he spent his entire career. Some of his most important positions included: Director of Comprehensive Care and Teaching Program (1952-1969), Professor of Medicine (1957-1992), Attending Physician (1962-1992), Chief of Ambulatory and Community Medicine Division (Department of Medicine) (1969-1972), and Chairmen of Department of Public Health, Livingston Farrand Professor of Public Health and Physician-in-Chief of Public Health (1972-1992).

Dr. Reader served on numerous boards including: American Geriatrics Society, Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York, Visiting Nurse Service of New York, Winifred Masterson Burke Relief Foundation, International Sociological Association Medical Sociology Section, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, New York State Governor's Health Advisory Council, Regional Medical Program of New York City, and Cornell University's Board of Trustees. On the federal level, he served as chairman of the Human Ecology Section of National Institutes of Health (NIH), White House Conference on Aging, and a consultant for the Social Security Administration and Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW).

He was interested in medical sociology, public health and community medicine, and medical education. In 1952, he developed the Comprehensive Care and Treatment Program for fourth year students at Cornell University Medical College. This program also worked in conjunction with the Bureau of Applied Social Research at Columbia University.

In 1992, he received the Maurice R. Greenberg Distinguished Service Award. He retired that same year. He died on October 13, 2005.
